

Angela Gervasi

angela.gervasi123@gmail.com
+1 (215)-450-6603
angelagervasi.squarespace.com

Writer, reporter, photographer and audio producer currently based in the U.S.-Mexico border town Nogales, Arizona. Fluent in Spanish with expertise in live radio broadcasting, breaking news, feature writing.

Professional Experience:

Reporter and Photographer

Nogales International • 2021 - Present

- Reports on issues including local government, community, public health and immigration on both sides of the U.S.-Mexico border.

Morning Edition Host and Reporter

KNAU • 2020 - 2021

- Hosted and engineered NPR's Morning Edition program for KNAU in Flagstaff. Wrote local and regional newscasts for up to 70,000 weekly listeners. Produced stories that aired regionally and nationally.

Freelance writer and audiovisual producer

Various publications • 2015 - 2021

- Pitched and produced stories for clients including Vox Media, Comcast NBCUniversal, WHYY, and The New Humanitarian.

Associate Producer

Cue9 Podcasts • 2019 - 2020

- Edited and produced podcasts for Cue9, an audio storytelling startup.

Videographer

Lexington Herald-Leader • 2018

- Pitched and produced multimedia stories in Lexington, Kentucky as a digital media fellow with the Dow Jones News Fund.

Newsroom Intern

WHYY • 2018

- Produced web and radio stories for NPR station WHYY.

Education:

Temple University | 2014 - 2018

- BA in Journalism with a Spanish minor. Graduated magna cum laude.

Universidad de La Habana | 2016

- Studied U.S.-Cuban relations at the Center for Hemispheric Studies.

Recognition:

- Arizona Newspapers Association
2022 Journalist of the Year.

- Fourth season contributor for ¿Qué Pasa Midwest?, a podcast produced through NPR member station WNIN. The season earned an Edward R. Murrow Award for Excellence In Innovation.

- Temple University Journalism awards in arts writing, opinion writing, international reporting, and photography.

- Princeton in Latin America finalist (fellowship deferred due to COVID-19 pandemic).

Other professional roles:

Latin American Consortium Speaker • 2017

- Research grant recipient from the Greater Philadelphia Latin American Studies Consortium. Conducted interviews and field work studying protest art in Havana; presented findings at the University of Pennsylvania.

Resident Photographer at Lowe House • 2018

- Wrote and produced a photography book on the Santa Cruz River in the U.S.-Mexico borderlands. The book, "Santa Cruz," was exhibited alongside the Smithsonian 2019 WaterWays exhibit in Tubac, Arizona.